
Young Students Making a Difference

Patricia Lutz & Wilma Sullivan Magill Junior Primary School (SA)

Through an action based curriculum at Magill Junior Primary School young students in Reception, Year 1 and Year 2 are given opportunities to participate in real and important activities and events that enable them to make a difference in the school and the wider community. Students learn skills for life long learning by engaging in discussions and decision making. All students in the school participate in the whole school program promoting active citizenship through Student Action Teams.

The program is strongly linked to the school values and Essential Learnings and readily promotes student well being by building self esteem and positive relationships with others.

Through active participation students in the Early Years learn about themselves and learn to work together with others. This whole school approach to Student Action Teams creates a strong sense of belonging within the school and wider community.
